Bridge the Gap to Achieve Financial Success

March Newsletter

Greetings!

During my client conversations over the past few weeks I have heard of all sorts of ways to use social media and the almighty Google search to benefit your business. We will be bringing some of those educational tidbits to you shortly. But the underlying message that I have heard over and over is that our businesses will grow by treating our customers as our friends. There are so many ways to take not only your customer's 'temperature' to make sure the relationship is going along smoothly, but also for you to determine if this the type of relationship you can extend credit to. Which leads me to this month's Your Money Saving Tip article listed below.

As the tax deadlines fast approach, if you would like for us to prepare these forms, please don't hesitate to contact my office at (406) 257 - 6044 to talk about solutions.

In Abundance,

Sue

PS: A big Welcome from Montana! to all the new readers who joined our newsletter since last week. You are going to enjoy the tax saving resources you will find here to help you keep more money!

Your Money Saving Tip...

When Money is Due

Know the risks and what to ask before extending credit to your customers.

Search engines and social media can help to establish a company's creditworthiness at the outset, while subscription-based monitoring tools can keep tabs on the ongoing financial health of your customers. CLICK HERE to read more.
